

SHORT PROFILE OF PHILIP AMIOLA

Philip Amiola is a teacher, business leadership advisor and digital solutions consultant. Although primarily trained as a life scientist, his penchant for personal development and self-mastery has led him to acquire skills in business strategy, journalism, corporate communication and digital publishing.

He leads a vibrant team at The Plenipotent Company Limited, a consulting firm that affords clients the quality and reliability of a large corporation while innovating with the ease and flexibility of a small business. In this role, Philip has built an A-list of satisfied clientele including government agencies, corporate bodies, and personal brands across Nigeria, Ghana, South Africa, United States and Canada.

His strong belief in the power of words as a force for creative change has seen him author a few books all of which have enjoyed global acclaim. Some of these include Order Your Life, Tweet and Grow Rich, Portals of Destiny, Sunlight at Dawn, The Minimalist Guide to Social Media Marketing and How to Start a Business without Quitting Your Job.

Philip delights in simplifying complex processes and devising alternative pathways that remove red tape while enhancing creativity and productivity. He deliberately challenges conventional assumptions, displacing them with practical intelligence and empirical wisdom.
